Volunteers for Utah—Weakness of the Administration—The Lecompton Controversy—Conflicting Statements Concerning Arizona—Possible Absorption of Mexico.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, April 6, 1858.

A curious spectacle, by contrast, is presented here now, in the excited and eager struggle which is going on between the rival volunteer regiments for acceptance by the President for the Utah War,—a spectacle which contrasts violently with that of the British Government being obliged to offer a premium of twenty pounds a recruit for the Crimean service! Here is a difficult and dangerous service, involving a tedious march over thousands of miles of uninhabited country, and a struggle at the end of it with a desperate people, and yet volunteers are so plenty that there is almost a fight to see which shall go. We are a martial people, certainly; but for the President there is an embarras des riches—it is about as difficult to settle the claims of the rival regiments as it was to make up his Cabinet. But n'importe, at present, since we must wait and see whether any money is forthcoming to pay even the present expenses of the War Department. The Opposition may even more effectually embarrass the Administration by refusing the supplies, than it could have done by denying an increase of the army. It seems odd that Mr. Secretary FLOYD cannot save the delegation from his own State from going with the Opposition on this vital measure to his Department; but so it is. And thus the professed friends of the Administration first desert it at one point and then in another, until it actually seems unable to get a single thing it wants. I suspect the difficulty is as much in bad management as in anything else; it needs the tactics of New-York politicians to get the Administration out of its embarrassments. Let them all unite on JOHN COCHRANE, or any other member of the delegation, to straighten matters, and I will engage that a different state of things will be exhibited in short order. Gen. QUITMAN admits that the five regiments were defeated in the House by a blunder of his own, to remedy which the new bill is to be proposed. I believe the Administration does not yet entirely despair of getting an addition to the regular force of the army. In this connection I send you some interesting correspondence, relative to Utah matters, from Quartermaster-General JESSUP and Lieutenant-General SCOTT.

The Senate got itself into an almost incurable snarl upon Mr. SLIDELL'S attempt to keep back the Kansas bill "for reconsideration," until matters were arranged in the House. The motion to reconsider was finally made by Mr. BIGLER, at the suggestion of Senator STUART, in order to avoid the knotty point of order, and to settle the difficulty without a long discussion as to the right of a Senator thus to prevent a bill from being sent down to the other House, that in the meanwhile Mr. STEPHENS, like Coelebs in search of a wife, might discover four more votes. According to the rumors, Mr. MCKIBBIN, of California, is to be torn with conflicting considerations to vote for the Administration because his father is Navy Agent at Philadelphia, an easy and lucrative berth, and to stick to the opposition because he is still under indictment at Hollidaysburg for shooting a man, whose friends are Republicans and will deal leniently with him if he votes right on Kansas! Such stories are calculated to disgust one; but with these opposite inducements it seems fair to conclude that Mr. MCKIBBIN can vote independently and upon his own judgment. The shrewdest of the Democratic leaders say there is no use plowing with him.

It is said that on a Committee of Conference, if obtained, a proposition would be offered on the Democratic side to amend the Crittenden bill, by striking out the clause giving the President power to admit Kansas by proclamation, upon certification of the action of the people upon a Constitution, and leaving Congress to act upon the admission at a subsequent session. The amendment commends itself to the good sense of all parties, but the Republicans consider it designed merely to make a breach in the Opposition ranks, and get the bill open for general amendment, and will accordingly shape their action against this or any other proposition, except the bill as it stands.

There is another obstacle, besides the absorbing subject of Kansas, which will prevent immediate action by the Administration in reference to our affairs with Spain, at least for a little while. The Administration want first to get rid of Mr. DODGE, whom they consider unfit to conduct a delicate negotiation, or an important matter of this kind, and nothing of any moment will be done while he is Minister. Mr. DODGE appears to be entirely unconscious that he is wanted home; at any rate he has not afforded the slightest hint of his willingness to surrender his holiday situation at the agreeable Spanish Court. It is the same with Mr. DALLAS, who, if he needed a hint, might find one in the fact that all our business with the English Government is transacted here, leaving him nothing to do but act as usher to the sovereign American citizens who go over and desire a presentation to Queen VICTORIA. It is a matter of continued surprise that neither Mr. DODGE nor Mr. DALLAS have conformed to the invariable custom of tendering a new administration the opportunity of making a change if it desired to do so; but this want of delicacy on their part will not prevent a change when the President gets ready to enter upon his foreign policy. General DIX has made no application, nor intimated any desire here to go to Spain. It is not impossible that Mr. SICKLES will supplant Mr. DODGE. O.

FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 7, 1858.

Between conflicting statements it is difficult to decide upon the actual condition and value of our new Province of Arizona. Lieutenant MOWRY, who claims to have been elected by a fair vote of an adequate number of citizens, represents that the country is capable of sustaining a large agricultural population; that it presents great inducements to the settler who wishes to engage in the usual pursuits of the American pioneer; that as a grazing and stock-supporting region it is not surpassed by any in the world; and that as a mining district its attractions are as great as those of California, because though its richness in gold is not yet developed, that metal is known to exist in large quantities, and its mines of silver and copper are equal to those of Mexico and Peru. Lieutenant MOWRY has resided in the western part of the Territory.

Major J. J. MCCARTY, formerly of New-York, claims to have been chosen by 1,500 legal voters resident in Mesilla and Don Anna Counties, whose settlements lie in the valley of the Rio Grande. He estimates the whole population of that tract of country which it is proposed to organize as Arizona Territory, at no more than 13,000, of whom more than 12,000 inhabit the Valley of the Rio Grande. He does not consider the country well adapted to farming or grazing. He believes it to be rich in silver and copper, and that only protection from the Indians is needed to bring forth and make available this wealth.

Mr. MOWRY adduces much corroborative testimony in support of his descriptions of Arizona. He has shown me letters from different parts of the Territory, the eastern and the farthest western divisions, representing that its claims to the care and attention of Congress are not confined to any one interest or class of population, but that it contains all the elements of a future State. These statements show, or affirm, that corn, wheat, cotton, tobacco, oats and grass flourish in Arizona. But they are chiefly interesting as opening a vista of employment and wealth to the miner. Gold has lately been found in the vicinity of Fort Buchanan, near the mining stations of Tubac and Arivac, under the same circumstances that it was discovered in California upon Capt. SUTTER'S rancho in 1848. The scales and pellets of gold have been sent here in small quantities in letters. I have seen them. They are identical in appearance with the earliest specimens sent from California to the War Department ten years since, which I also saw. The yield of this gold to the pan-full of dust, taken from the placer, is forty-three cents, at which rate a workman could gain $100 per day.

The results of silver mining have not been less brilliant. Letters from Tucson represent that nine tons of silver ore had been shipped from the Sopori mines, which yielded $5,000 per ton. I know the danger of exciting the public mind by positive statements of new-found Ophirs and Dorados. They have, in all ages, from JASON and his argonauts to our own day, fired the minds of men to great enterprises, and have paved the way to suffering and death. I narrate nothing therefore, except upon authority which I give, that of letters just received from the Territory, and which have been under thirty days upon the road.

These golden tales have not been without their effect upon Congress. The minds of members are swayed alternately by doubt and confidence. The Senate Committee on Territories once unanimously ordered a bill to be reported conferring upon Arizona a Territorial organization—then unanimously rescinded that order. The subject has again been brought up, and it is probable that a bill in some shape will be reported and passed. The principal cause of dispute has heretofore been the boundary. The first proposed in the Senate Committee was a north and south line, which would leave the Mesilla settlements attached to New-Mexico. This was favored by the delegate from New-Mexico, but opposed by the representatives of California. The line which will be agreed upon, if the plan of separation from New-Mexico succeeds, runs along the 34th parallel.

Underlying the other subjects of controversy is the eternal quarrel upon negroes and Slavery. The proximate cause of rescinding the late order for a Territorial bill was that it contained a clause directing the Constitution when framed to be submitted to a vote of the people. It was feared that this would make it a Free State, and the four Southern members of the Committee reconsidered and defeated the bill.

Mining is assumed to be favorable to Slavery, perhaps because it is exhaustive to the laborer, whether bond or free; but if has not hitherto proved an impediment to the emmigration of the white races, and since working has to a great extent superseded fighting, the white laborer in all temperate climes appears destined to drive before him all inferior races. Without slaves Arizona cannot permanently be a Slave State. These considerations have mollified the hostility of the North and cooled the ardor of the South towards the organization of Arizona.

The true philosophy of our national expansion is the question of the day. What retards it is the relation of the conquering to the conquered race. The Mexicans are nearly all of mixed blood. It is the probable destiny of their country to be annexed. The South will contend for the policy of enslaving its people. The anticipation of this struggle alone diverts the North from the policy of extension in that quarter. So of Cuba. Were it occupied by a population homogeneous with ourselves, the North would desire and demand the acquisition with much greater zeal than the South does now. In truth, when the Southern mind begins maturely to reflect upon the advantage of keeping in practical alliance with it, for the protection of its distinguishing social institution, a considerable naval power like Spain, it is very questionable indeed whether it will insist upon repelling that ally. It is obvious that the time may come when the possession of Cuba by Spain will be an important barrier to the interests of the South. A.

IMPORTANT FROM WASHINGTON.

Passage of the Minnesota Bill in the Senate.

Expected Action on the Kansas Bill—The Sale of Burton's Theatre—General Houston and the late Naval Retiring Board, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 7.

It is expected that the Opposition will, to-morrow, carry a motion to adhere to the House Kansas bill. Mr. STEPHENS has abandoned the idea of speaking now, but will wait until the bill comes back again from the Senate, on a proposition for a Committee of Conference.

An article in the States alleges that the lease of Burton's Theatre is a conspiracy to swindle the Government in damages for the extension of Elm-street. The facts are that the contract was entered into with a full knowledge of the purpose to extend Elm-street, and an allowance was made, therefore, in the price. The lease was made on the recommendation of the New-York delegation.

It is expected that Gen. HOUSTON will shortly make a savage onslaught on the late Naval Retiring Board—seven of whom have gone abroad, it is said, in anticipation of his purpose. Another—Com. SHUBRICK—is endeavoring to get sent off to command the Squadron in the Mediterranean. Gen. HOUSTON means to have the officers composing the Board tried by a similar tribunal. O.

[FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.]

The Senate to-day confirmed a large number of appointments of Post-Officers, Collectors, &c., nearly clearing its tables of that sort of business.

The upshot of the denial of the difficulty between HARNEY and SMITH is, that HARNEY could not get a separate command, as he wanted.

The fact is stated here that there are but two papers in Louisiana not Anti-Lecompton. A.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 7.

Mr. COLLINS, United States Commercial Consul for the Amoor River, has completed his exploration and submitted the result to the State Department, together with two maps, one of the Amoor River, and the other showing the relative position of Northern Asia, and our Pacific Coast. A company has been formed, sanctioned by the Emperor of Russia, and placed in the special care of the Governor-General of Eastern Siberia, to promote and develop commercial and industrial pursuits in the basin of the Amoor. Mr. COLLINS shows the prospective importance of that trade to our own country.

Much solicitude is expressed concerning the Deficiency Appropriation bill, which is now more clearly than ever threatened with defeat in its present form. The interest is heightened by the fact that the supplies to the Utah Expedition depend on its passage, and money is wanted for the immediate necessities of the service.

The War Department transmitted to the house to-day the full particulars concerning the contracts for the supplies of the Utah Expedition.

They do not sustain the published statements of exorbitant prices. The rates of transportation to Utah depend upon the season in which the service is performed.

The Senate returned the Kansas bill to the House to-day. By general agreement the latter will take it up to-morrow at 1 o'clock.

DENNIS MURPHY to-day was unanimously confirmed by the Senate as paymaster at Harper's Ferry.

Enough is known to warrant the assertion that Governor POWELL and Major MCCULLOUGH, Peace Commissioners to Utah, will be instructed to assure the Mormons that it is not the desire of the President and the United States authorities to make war upon them, but to secure the enforcement of the laws, to which end they will be counseled to participate. The Commissioners will also inform them that some troops will be retained in the Territory to protect the emigrants to the Pacific against the attacks of hostile Indians. The Commissioners will go with the next reinforcements to Utah.

XXXVth CONGRESS.....First Session.

SENATE....WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 7.

A lengthened discussion took place upon the report of the Committee on Printing against the printing of eulogies of recently deceased Senators.

Messrs. BROWN, FESSENDEN, HALE and others spoke against unnecessary printing.

Mr. CAMERON said in behalf of the Committee that all picture books would be rejected in future, and that from thirty to forty thousand dollars had already been saved by the Committee's economy.

Messrs. HOUSTON and MASON spoke in favor of printing these eulogies.

Mr. SEWARD explained that his vote in favor of the printing, was not influenced by personal interest. He also spoke of exaggerated funeral honors as unnecessary.

Finally Mr. HOUSTON'S motion to print was disagreed to.

The Minnesota bill was then taken up. It is very brief, consisting of a preamble and two sections, admitting Minnesota as a State and allowing her two Representatives.

The amendments were concurred in, and the bill read a third time.

Mr. WILSON called for the yeas and nays on the passage of the bill.

Previous to the calling of the roll, Messrs. BELL, HOUSTON, BOWN, JOHNSON of Tennessee, CRITTENDEN, STUART and WILSON made brief remarks on the clause in the Constitution permitting aliens to vote.

The final vote, that the bill pass, was Yeas 48; Nays 3.

NAYS—Messrs. Clay, Kennedy and Yulee.

ABSENT—Messrs. Bayard, Bates, Benjamin, Davis, Fessenden, Foot, Henderson, Iverson, Pearce, Reid, and Thompson of Kentucky.

The Senate then went into Executive Session, and on the opening of the doors again adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 7.

Mr. OTERO, of New-Mexico, introduced a bill for the construction of a wagon and emigrant road in New-Mexico.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Deficiency Appropriation bill.

Mr. LETCHER, of Virginia, said the Committee on Ways and Means were placed in an embarrassing position. They had been fired on from the Democratic side of the House. Some Democrats were against all the provisions of the bill, and others against particular provisions, but all seemed to concur in the conclusion that unless the bill in its every provision can be made acceptable to them, they are prepared to vote it down, and leave the Government without the means of carrying out the policy which it has inaugurated. He showed that the three millions of dollars asked in anticipation of the regular appropriation would enable the War Department now to make a cheaper contract for the transportation of supplies to Utah than if it were delayed till Autumn. The million and a quarter deficiency to be supplied by this bill came as a legacy from the previous Administration. If the Utah expedition was improperly begun, as was said, why did the House pass a resolution declaring that rebellion exists there, and subsequently pass a bill to furnish volunteers? It was now too late to urge as a plea for the defeat of the Deficiency bill that the President did not get the consent of Congress before he began reinforcing the troops in Utah. Mr. LETCHER defended the bill generally.

During the debate on an amendment, Messrs. WASHBURN, of Maine, and GRANGER, of New-York, opposed granting the supplies for the Utah expedition, on the ground that the President is prosecuting the war against the Mormons without the authority of Congress.

Mr. LOVEJOY, of Illinois, said he was willing to undertake the war with Utah by contract at half what the bill proposes to appropriate. All the Government has to say, is whether BRIGHAM YOUNG is to be hanged, and how many men it wants killed.

Mr. LETCHER, of Virginia, replied that it was not known before that the gentleman was a fighting man, otherwise, probably, the Secretary of War might have spoken to him upon the subject. [Laughter.]

Mr. HUGHES, of Indiana, in reply to an incidental remark by Mr. COLFAX, said that the debate on Kansas was opened by the "little giant from Ohio," (Cox,) and he (HUGHES) only spoke at that time about fifteen minutes in response, but if his colleague would listen to a speech, he could convert him. [Laughter.]

Mr. COLFAX replied that his colleague would find his labor in vain.

Mr. HUGHES—I have converted you, for you declared you would not vote for the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution, and yet did so vote the other day. [Laughter.]

Mr. COLFAX replied he had not voted to ratify, but to reject that Constitution. He had voted to admit Kansas as a State, without endorsing any Constitution, leaving the people to vote on Lecompton under such circumstances as the Washington Union declared would induce them to reject it. He had voted for the Crittenden amendment, which the same paper said was as full of Black Republicanism as an egg is full of meat.

On motion of Mr. GARNETT, of Virginia, the Committee rose and reported the bill, with a recommendation that it be recommitted to the Committee of Ways and Means, with instructions to report in separate bills the items for deficiency under each head for the expenditure for service of the present fiscal year, and in another bill all appropriations designed for the next fiscal year, and also, with instructions to inquire what further legislation is necessary to restore to Congress an efficient control over the expenses of the Government.

Mr. LETCHER, of Virginia, raised a question that such instructions could not be given, as it would be impossible to comply with them.

The Speaker replied that the report was novel in its character, but at the same time it was competent for the Committee to make the recommendation.

Mr. CAMPBELL, of Ohio, said if the recommendation should prevail, it would amount to the practical defeat of the bill.

The previous question ordered, on agreeing to the instructions to the Committee on Ways and Means, pending which the House adjourned.

IMPORTANT FROM VENEZUELA.

The Government Overthrown.

BALTIMORE, Wednesday, April 7.

Per bark W. R. Taylor, arrived in Hampton Roads, we have Laguyra dates of the 20th March, and important intelligence in reference to the revolution in Venezuela. General MONAGAS, President of the Republic, fearful of being overthrown by the revolutionary party, sent his resignation to Congress on the 15th March, which was accepted, and a Provisional Government recognized, at the head of which is General CASTRO. The latter has appointed the following Ministers:

W. URRUTIA, Secretary of Foreign Affairs.
G. TORD, Secretary of Finances.
W. F. TORAR, Secretary of Interior.
General R. SOTO, Secretary of War and Navy.

General MONAGAS, and the late Secretary of Foreign Affairs, Mr. JACINTO GATBIBREZ, are under the collective protection of the diplomatic body.

The Townsend Trial in Canada.

TORONTO, C. W., Wednesday, April 7.

After TOWNSEND'S acquittal yesterday of the murder of Constable RICHARDS, of Merritsville, he was again committed for trial for the murder of NELLIS, at Cayuga. The trial just concluded has been the most extraordinary on record. The verdict rendered was received with great astonishment.

MERRITTSVILLE, C. W., Wednesday, April 7.

SYLVESTER DOANE, a witness who testified against TOWNSEND in his recent trial for murder, was attacked last night, when on his way home, and nearly beaten to death. His assailants were two men, who issued from the woods as he passed, and are supposed to be accomplices of TOWNSEND. They both escaped. DOANE is not expected to live. The excitement which previously existed here, in consequence of TOWNSEND'S acquittal, has been very much augmented by this outrage.

Sad Calamity in Jefferson County—Burning of a whole Family—Heroic Conduct of a Jailer's Wife.

Correspondence of the New-York Times:

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Monday, April 5, 1858.

The inhabitants of this place have had two rather exciting topics on their tongues for the past few hours, the first relating to a shocking affair in the adjoining town of Le Roy; the second to another affair not so shocking in our own neighborhood.

The first is, as I learn by actual personal investigation, somewhat thus: A farmer named DANIEL COMSTOCK has been living with his four little daughters, MARY, MARIA, COLONA and CORA, alone in his house, which is located fourteen or fifteen miles from here, on what is known as the Philadelphia Road. His wife has been absent some two months, in Auburn, under medical treatment. Last (Sunday) night, about 9 o'clock, it was discovered that the residence of Mr. COMSTOCK was in flames, and before assistance could be rendered it was burned to the ground, together with its five inmates! It would seem from the position of affairs as I found them to-day, on the ground, that Mr. C. and his four daughters (the oldest of whom was only ten years) were all asleep together in one bedroom, in a corner of the house. The first indication they had of the fire was, probably, not until the building was full of flames, for it is apparent the fire "took" from a keg of ashes in the woodhouse, which is some distance from the bedroom in question, and, in burning its way to the bedroom, it must have enveloped everything in flames. Rushing in the darkness forth from the bedroom, the frantic children flew in different directions, blinded by the smoke and flames, while the unnatural father, who loved his money more than his offspring, ran up stairs to get his box of valuables, while he might have easily opened the bedroom window at the outset, and placed himself and children beyond danger—for the bedroom was on the ground floor. But, alas for human frailty!—his miserly habits ruled him, and his blackened bones and ashes were found, after the fire, lying across his box in the cellar, where he had fallen.

As if this affair were not sufficiently shocking in itself, we are compelled to turn to the poor wife, who, away in Auburn, is contemplating the happiness of her little ones, and the prospect of a speedy reunion with them. Before I left that vicinity, to return to Watertown, to-night, a letter was placed in my hands, which had just been received from the poor woman, addressed to her husband, and dated at Auburn, last Friday. I extract for you these portions:

"MY DEAR ONES AT HOME: You will all be surprised, and I trust, like me, you will be joyfully surprised, when I tell you that I am coming home next week. * * * I should have started this morning, if I had had an answer to the letter that I sent on Tuesday last. I feel as if I cannot possibly wait till it comes. * * * I am not strong enough to endure much, though I am gaining. I am very much excited with the prospect of going home; hope I shall get calm before I start. I think I see you all looking very happy, my dear children, when pa reads this to you. Be good children, and I hope before another Friday noon to be with you.

Your affectionate mother, A. M. C."

Alas! alas! for this poor woman, when she learns the fate of her "dear children," and realizes that after all she is alone in the world! May God pity and strengthen her!

The second topic of which I spoke is more agreeable to dwell upon. Early on Sunday morning, three prisoners, named WILSON, EDDY, MISSLE and WARD, by feigning the sickness of one of their number, got the jailor at this place, Mr. BAKER, in their power, gagged and bound him, and locked him in a cell. This done, they robbed him of his money and the keys of the prison, and were calmly taking their leave when they were "brought all up standing" by beholding the jailor's little wife pointing at them through a railing, a loaded revolver, and calmly informing them that she would put a bullet through the first man who attempted to come forward. A conversation something like this, followed:

PRISONER—The devil you will! You don't know how to shoot it.

MRS. BAKER—Try it and see, if you like! I have been practicing with this pistol for the past few days, and I promise you I will kill the first man who comes forward.

PRISONER—Well, if that's your game, we'll be quits with you. Now, take your choice, young woman—either let us pass out in peace, or submit to have your husband's brains knocked out against the walls of the jail. Which do you like best? Perhaps that won't be gay, nor nothing, just to see him laying out there cold and stiff, with his brains laying around. Ha! ha! —d—d pretty picture, ain't it? D—d pretty wife you are, ain't ye, to get your husband killed? Come, now, what d'ye say? Let us out and it'll be all right—won't ye? [And the speaker moved forward a step.]

MRS. BAKER—The first man who steps over that sill dies!

And there that brave woman held those men at bay for something like half an hour, until help came, and they were driven into their cells. S.

Bank Dividends—The Removal of the Post-Office—A Batch of State Appointments—The Cambridge Fire—A New Institute Proposed.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

BOSTON, Tuesday, April 6, 1858.

The April dividends of our city banks amount to nearly $1,200,000, on capitals that sum up $31,960,000. Five per cent. (semi annual) is the highest dividend, and but few banks reach to that; and seven banks, with the aggregate capital of $4,050,000, pay but 3 per cent. Several banks show a falling off as compared with their October dividends of 1857. On the whole, however, the holders of bank stocks have little to complain of. There is a new bank, the Hide and Leather, which has a million of capital, just going into operation, and which would have begun its grinding last Autumn, but for the severity of the times.

The country banks declare good dividends, and are better property than the city banks. They can now look forward to a long list of such dividends, the failure of the attempts to cut them off from supplying all the currency we have, at the late session of the Legislature, having made their monopoly secure. It was a triumph over the urban institutions that may be looked upon as approaching to a finality.

The plan to remove the Post-Office from State-street to Summer-street, got up by the new Postmaster, (some say for not very good reasons,) has excited considerable feeling, which takes the shape of active opposition. All State-street is in arms about it, and will not hear of such a thing, even if it should be compelled to see it. The press is generally opposed to it, as it should be, for the printing-offices are mostly hard by State-street, or on it, while there are about as many such concerns on Summer-street as there are trees on Sahara. The Herald, edited by Mr. BAILEY, who was turned out of the Post Office, though a Democrat, to make way for Mr. CAPEN, has come down upon the project with that force which makes the pen heavier than a sledge-hammer. It is objected to Mr. BAILEY that he can't be impartial in the premises; but this, however plausible in case it were brought against a judge or a juror, is nothing against an advocate, who will probably be all the better in his business when under the dominion of wrath and partiality, provided the wrath be not too hot. The tendency of opinion is, that everything done by Government, or for it, or in its name, must necessarily be a job, and a corrupt job to boot; and the experience of men here shews that this view of the matter is by no means an uncharitable one. Government never yet bought a building here without being itself "sold." Some one has always made a fortune out of the transaction, at the public expense.

The meeting of business men, to act against the removal, on Friday last, was numerously attended. Most of those who took part in it are excellent men but if the removal be a corrupt job, as almost every one believes, then one of those whose names figure in the published accounts ought to sympathize with it, for he has made money enough in that way to know how it is done; but as a converted thief makes the best policeman, and a reformed drunkard, reeking from the gutter, the best temperance lecturer, so it is likely a rich corruptionist may make the best guardian of the public treasury, unless, indeed, he should be gorged to repletion, and so be quiet for the same reason that the boa is torpid after his virtuous exertions in swallowing a whole goat for his breakfast. It would be rather hard, if there be any scheme on foot to "sell" our common Uncle, that the parties to it should be checkmated by an old player on the board, with a "pocket full of rocks" (literally) taken from the boards of that same avuncular personage. I do not assert that there is any corruption in the affair, but Democrats of character, and whose motives are unimpeachable, something more than him that there is, and wonder that any one should doubt it, as if it were a thing of course.

The meeting appointed a Committee, which waited on Mr. CAPEN, who civilly, but firmly, told its members that he approved of the removal, and that the Postmaster-General approved of it; and that it would take place. There was another meeting on Saturday to which the Committee reported; and thereupon an other Committee was appointed, to make a direct appeal to the Postmaster-General. It is to be hoped that gentleman will listen to the appeal, and reverse the decision which he has made under an entire misapprehension of the circumstances. It is not too much to say, that where one business man or house will be accommodated by the change, ten will be suffered from it. The thing is absolutely so unnecessary, and the place selected for the site of the new office is so unfit therefor, that it is no wonder men think the affair is a piece of corruption, without even a decent veil thrown over it. Mr. UPTON, who heads the movement against the change, is the first merchant of Boston, in point of talent and standing; and Mr. TOSEY, who made a capital speech at the meeting of Saturday, is a man universally respected. Messrs. BROWN and JAMES LAWRENCE, who were on the first committee, are first-class men. Mr. HALL who heads the committee that is to appeal to the Postmaster-General, is as rich in worth and ability as in money, and is appropriately placed. Mr. NEVINS is the gentleman who lately bought the Pemberton Mills; and FRANKLIN HAVEN was formerly United States Treasurer here, and now is President of one of the largest banks in Boston—the Merchants'. Government ought to listen to such men, who, in this business, speak the sentiments of nearly the whole community. No demand has been made for the change proposed.

The State Government is carrying out the work of removals on a pretty extensive scale, and descending rather low in the business. The colored messenger at the State Department has been removed, and his place conferred upon Mr LEWIS HAYDEN, another colored gentleman, and who has been conspicuous as a Free-Soil politician for years. The messenger of the Governor and Council has been displaced, and his office given to a Waltham man. Mr. AMES, a Charlestown gentleman, and a most excellent fellow to boot, has been made Agent of the bridges between that city and Boston. Mr. SWIFT, made a Pilot Commissioner, is an old Free-Soiler, but a young man. The same is true of Mr. DE WITT, as a Bank Commissioner. You remember Mr. DE WITT as a member of Congress, where he represented the Worcester District, the most intensely Anti-Slavery place in all New-England. He managed to give offence to his constituents, however, though a Free-Soiler of 1848, by holding up his cane, in the House of Representatives, to enable Colonel BROOKS to do so by Mr. KEITT, I think, on the occasion of a reference to the size of the instrument with which Colonel BROOKS assaulted Mr. SUMNER, and they summarily turned him out of Congress. Last year he was the American candidate for Lieutenant-Governor; and his nomination to a respectable place under the Banks Administration is regarded as evidence of the willingness of the Governor to go in for a fusion of all branches of the opposition—a wise policy, but not to be carried out without creating some hard feeling. Report assigns the Inspectorship of Fish, which used to be one of the best places in the State, to Mr. MARSH, of Waltham Mr. MARSH was State Treasurer during Governor GARDNER'S first term, but as he cast in his lot with Mr. ROCKWELL, in 1855, he went down with the rest of the Republicans, last year. In 1857 he was placed on the Republican ticket, with Mr. BANKS, but when the fusion was made he was set aside, and got nothing. He is poor and needs the place, and, being a man of business habits, would probably discharge its duties acceptably. He is one of the Governor's old Democratic friends, and they used to act together in days when Mr. H. was much the bigger man of the two, and when a dream of what now is would have been considered too wild a thing to be told by sunlight. JOHN WHITE, who has been made a Bank Commissioner, is an old Lowell Whig, and was the original Republican candidate for Secretary of State, but, like Mr. MARSH, he was dropped in the fusion hour, thrown into the political cauldron, as it were, to make the broth "thick and slab." Dr. BANCROFT succeeds Dr. MEARNS as Physician to the State Prison. Speaking of the State Prison, I am reminded that I understated Mr. Warden HAYNES' salary in my last: it is $3,500, not $2,500, including all things. A good thing ought never to be underrated or understated.

Our City Government can't agree what to do about that unturbaned Turk, MAHOMMED PASHA. The Common Council are for sending a Committee to him, but the Aldermen would have the Mayor invite him to Boston.

Our Insolvency Court has decided that an Insolvent liquor-dealer is not obliged to answer any questions touching his traffic, or to give up his books, on the ground that he is not bound to criminate himself. This is just, but it affords encouragement to dishonest dealers to fail.

The number of persons arrested in this city during the three months ending March 31, was 4,198, of whom 2,036 were held for trial. More than four-fifths of the number were foreigners, and less than one-fifth females. During the same period 4,360 persons were provided with lodgings at the Station-house.

The project to improve the Common, by making a sort of trim garden of it, does not meet with much favor. It is a pretty little place as it is, and though not quite up to Hyde Park, answers the rural requirements of the City. As one of the lungs of Boston, it ought not to be meddled with.

Judge LORING has hung out his shingle, and will devote his attention to the weighty matters of the law, having concluded to obey an unconstitutional act, as he holds it to be. His name is hardly mentioned now. Never was criticism more just, than that which you made on his letter or card, for his position was identical with that of the Abolitionists on the Fugitive Slave law.

The details of the Connecticut election, so far as received, are very agreeable to us, but, as we expected them, we are not much excited. In Rhode Island, which elects State officers to-morrow, there is some trouble in the Republican ranks about Senators and Representatives, but we trust the Democrats will not gain therefrom.

The fire at Cambridge, which destroyed so many books, unbound sheets, stereotype plates, etc., was a watery sort of a fire, as the stock was quite as much damaged by water as by the fiercer, but not more destructive agent. The flames were blue, which puzzled people, until it was ascertained that the sheets were those of law books. Had the Caliph What's-his-name burned only books of that kind, he would have deserved a statue of gold, to stand on the largest of the Pyramids. The building was set on fire, and there is, just now, an unusual activity in the incendiary line.

They are trying to get up an Institute here, with Dr. SOLGER at its head, to promote the study of the science of government, and so forth. It is proposed to give a hundred acres of land, lying near Spot Pond, in aid of the undertaking, by two gentlemen; but as the land, at most, would not bring above $50,000, other means must be had, and a meeting of persons friendly to the undertaking is to be held. We have such an Institute now. It is called the Custom-House, and it "turns out," every four years, a lot of graduates, who have a practical acquaintance with the science of government, such as Dr. SOLGER could not communicate if he were to live for a thousand ages. If a great institution of the kind talked of ever should be established, its scene will probably be New-York, and not Boston. It may be doubted, however, if the science of governing is to be learned in any school, that not belonging to the list of the exact sciences.

Our weather, so beautiful up to yesterday, is now illustrating the uncertainty proverbially belonging to the glory of April days. There has been fog; there is mist, and there may be rain. The mist is of the regular Scotch pattern, and makes no bones of getting into one's bones. I have a garden, just about big enough for the burial-place of a small family, and I set a man to dig it up this morning, and his operations reminded me of those of that solid builder, the sexton.

Mr. SAMUEL ADAMS, of Townsend, member of the Senate from the Concord District, died yesterday, at the age of 52, in consequence of drinking aconite, which had been prescribed as a lotion for rheumatism, by a homœopathic physician. Mr. ADAMS said, just before his death, which occurred only two hours after he had drank the potion, that the doctor told him to use the aconite internally, which seems hardly possible. The deceased was formerly a member of the State House of Representatives, and was a Director of the Townsend Bank from its commencement.

The Acquisition of Cuba—Short-sighted Policy of the South.

From the Washington States, April 6.

The people of the South comprehend instinctively that their great natural advantages of climate and position have not been so well managed as the resources of the less fruitful North, and they begin to inquire why they are so outstripped in the race of empire. Is it because their Representatives in Congress fritter away their time and their votes in barren, if not chimerical, side issues, and, therefore, are never ready to unite on great measures?

Has the South any settled plan of policy with regard to Central America, Mexico or Cuba? It affects to consider the rescue of Cuba from Spain and the negroes as preeminently a Southern measure. But can mortal wisdom devise a plan for the salvation of Cuba, on which anything like a solid Southern vote could be rallied? One party "don't want any more territory," and another is afraid to stir until the consent of England shall be obtained. They have walked all their lives a reverential submission to British precedents, and cannot so far dispossess themselves of their habitual and overwhelming dread of British displeasure as to step boldly and freely forward in an independent American line of policy.

The South is still worse afflicted with a crazy crew of abstractionists, who boil over with a sort of Quixotic zeal for fighting wind-mills, but are never in harness when a great actuality is to be won for the South and the Union.

Justly considered, there can be no measure of overwhelming advantage to the South that is not at the same time a benefit to the whole Union. Suppose it is an expansion of territory, the gain of a State, and increased capacities of production, the enlargement of its borders and its wealth opens fresh fields for manufacturing New-England, for the bread-raising West, and the commercial energies of the Middle States.

If the South had a sound and healthy policy, if it had any measure of real and direct importance before the people, it would carry the entire Democracy of the Union with it; for a really wise and valuable project would be of national utility. Then there is no North, no South, no East, no West; we feel it is our common country, our glorious motherland, and all her children are ready to join hands for her honor and aggrandizement.

Texas was called—as Cuba will be—a Southern measure; but, even on that great question, who upheld the banner of annexation more ably and bravely than the young West? When TOOMBS and STEPHENS, and CLINGMAN and CLAY were battling with all their talents and influence against the admission of Texas, who came to the rescue with voice and vote more gallantly than DOUGLAS and his Democratic compeers? If New-York and Pennsylvania had turned coldly from the Lone Star in 1844-'45, Texas might have been thrown back into the abyss of Mexican anarchy, where the Southern Whigs of that day said she rightly belonged, or have subsided into something like a stipendiary of England, and remained a standing invitation to disunion on our Southern borders.

Cuba is the second edition of the Texas necessity of annexation in our national self-defence. In a short time the key of the Gulf must be with us or lost to us; an added element of strength, or a thorn in the side of our American civilization—and the South claims a deep and peculiar interest in the solution of this problem. Has the South eliminated any plan of action—any system of policy by which this great measure is to be accomplished? If her representatives choose to draw a rigorous line of sectional division, can she imagine the ostracized North will show any extreme impatience to strengthen its opponent? If the South adopts a high, national policy, the nation will be with her and for her; but if she insists on being narrow, sectional and repellant, she must abide by the result.

The rescue of Cuba is, beyond all peradventure, a question of the broadest national interest. Cuba saved is worth twenty millions a year to our commerce and manufactures; but the North can wait for Cuba, and go on prospering. Cuba lost would be a regret to the whole Union; but it would be something more and something worse to the South. If she permits her one idea impracticables to inclose her in the set circuit of what they call a "Southern policy," but which exhausts itself in petty sophistries on Lecomptonism, Cuba will be sacrificed in the childish turmoil.

The Southern masses pardoned the enemies of Texas, because Texas was saved, and joyous hearts are disposed to be generous; but they will never forgive the men who sacrifice Cuba, as she is in danger of being lost, and in the agony of her death-wail she may send a lesson to her betrayers which they will hardly be able to smother under this unmeaning cant about Southern policy and the Lecompton Constitution.

A young thief, pardoned out of Sing Sing prison two weeks ago, was caught in the act of committing a larceny at Albany, on Tuesday, and will now be sent back to his old quarters.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Hon. Charles Patrick.

IMPORTANT DECISION—ACTUAL DEMAND UNDER EXECUTION MUST BE MADE IN PERSON TO ENABLE A PARTY TO EXAMINE JUDGMENT DEBTOR.

A. L. Pudney & Russell vs. John W. Griffiths & Bates.—The defendants move to set aside an order for their examination as judgment debtors. The Sheriff made no demand upon them. The execution was returned unsatisfied at the request of the plaintiffs. On this ground the order was asked.

For the motion Anderson and Wyatt opposed Cooper and Rice.

CLERKE, J.—It is asserted, and for the purpose of this motion, admitted, that the plaintiffs directed the Sheriff to return the execution, issued in this action, before the expiration of the sixty days, and before any effort was made to levy upon property subject to execution.

Now, supplementary proceedings under the first part of sec. 292 of the Code, were evidently designed as a remedy, not concurrent or simultaneous with an execution, but, as the adjective designating these proceedings imports, to supply its place, where it has failed to be effectual. And, in all cases, the execution must precede the resort to the supplementary remedy—it must be issued with a bona fide attempt to find and attach property, which it can reach. Otherwise, the intention of the law requiring the issuing of the execution would be an idle ceremony; and it would save much trouble; it would in every respect be more convenient and proper to allow the commencement of what we now call supplementary proceedings, immediately on the rendition of the judgment, and without the intervention of an execution. We all know that the creditor's bill, for which these proceedings are a substitute to a certain extent, could not have been filed until what was called the legal remedy should be exhausted.

There is nothing under the present system superceding this requirement. The remedy by execution must still be exhausted; it must be really exhausted—it must not be a sham attempt to do so; but, the proper officer must be allowed to take the usual course to effectuate the object which the process was designed to serve.

This, certainly, is not done, when the plaintiffs in an action interpose and prevent the sheriff from even searching for property, by prematurely directing him to return the execution, for the express purpose of enabling them to commence these proceedings.

The order must be set aside with $5 costs.

Before Hon. Justice Davies.

James Watt vs. Archibald Watt.—Motion for stay of proceedings denied; referee to fix the amount to be named in the undertaking, pursuant to section 338.

John A Stewart, Receiver, vs. Trumbull & Co.—Motion granted.

James B. Hullin vs. James Foster et als.—Motion denied.

Joseph Lawrence vs Hiram C. Bennett et als.—Motion to place on Special Calendar granted.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Hon. Justice Pierrepont.

Walter Hicks vs. Edward Payson.—This action, which has before been noticed in the TIMES, was brought on an account, the defendant being arrested for breach of trust. On the preliminary examination the defendant was discharged from arrest, and then moved for a dismissal of the complaint, which was granted, with costs, and thereupon judgment was entered for defendant.

IMPORTANT LAWSUIT.—We learn that one of our best business firms has recently come out of a protracted litigation in the State of New-York, under circumstances somewhat more propitious than ordinarily mark the exodus of a lawsuit.

In JANUARY 1855, CHAMBERLIN & CRAWFORD entered into a contract with the Watertown and Rome Railroad Company, which contemplated the transportation of goods from New-York via Rome and Cape Vincent to Chicago and intermediate points on Lakes Michigan and Erie; the Railroad Company transporting the goods to and from Cape Vincent, on the eastern section of the route. The contract was for four years. At the end of the first year it was repudiated by the Railroad Company, for the reason that it was not profitable to them in its operation.

CHAMBERLIN & CRAWFORD instituted suit for damages in the Supreme Court of the State of New-York, for the county of St. Lawrence. The case was ultimately taken from Court, and submitted to the Hon E. N. ROSEBRANS, of the Fourth Judicial District, as a Referee.

After a patient and laborious investigation at Ogdensburgh and Watertown, in January and February last, the learned Judge took the matter under advisement. His opinion is now promulgated in a legal and logical argument, that would reflect honor upon the best intellect of Westminster Hall. We regret that its length compels us to exclude it from our columns. We can only say the award gives to our friends, Messrs. CHAMBERLIN & CRAWFORD, the net sum of $41,479 10.

Judge BROWN, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Judge R. P. SPALDING, of Cleveland, we are informed, argued the cause on the part of the plaintiffs. Messrs. CLARK, of Watertown, and HUTCHINS, of the City of New-York, for defendants.—Cleveland Herald.

GRAND OPENING OF MANTILLAS

AT GENIN'S BAZAAR,

THURSDAY, April 8.

The exposition of PARISIAN MANTILLAS at GENIN'S BAZAAR on Thursday, the 8th inst., will be one of the great events of the season.

FIFTY NEW AND GRACEFUL STYLES,

fresh from the most exclusive Magasins of Paris and now the leading novelties of the kind in that city will be submitted to the fashionable world of New-York. The new modes differ from those of early Spring and comprehend a variety of new materials and exquisitely-beautiful trimmings and applications. No effort has been spared to give brilliancy to the display. The assortment has been selected solely from the latest styles brought out by trading houses, and, in fact, consists of the gems of every really fashionable mantilla house in Paris.

THE SHOW-ROOMS OF THE BAZAAR

will present, on Thursday next, the most superb appearance they have ever worn. Never, on any former occasion has the stock, in every department of the establishment, been so beautiful, so varied, so complete. Attention is solicited to the importations of received by steamer since the opening of March 25, in which are included many piquant and fascinating novelties appropriate

MUSARD'S FIRST APPEARANCE.
MONDAY EVENING, April 12, at 8,
MUSARD'S MONSTER CONCERTS,
They will be continued every evening for one month.
THE SALE OF RESERVED SEATS
Commences this morning, at all the three ticket offices.
MUSARD'S FIRST CONCERT ON MONDAY.
THALBERG, D'ANGRI,
LEGENDRE, MOREAU,
THE MONSTER ORCHESTRA will be the
GRANDEST, COMPLETEST AND MOST COLOSSAL
that has ever been brought before the American public.
It will greatly exceed, both in numbers and quality, the orchestra of the New-York Philharmonic Society and of Jullien's concerts. It will comprise
ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY
of the best professors of the city, including
MUSARD'S SOLO PLAYERS FROM PARIS.
Some idea of its extraordinary strength may be formed from the fact that it numbers not less than SIXTY FIRST-RATE VIOLINS,
THIRTY CONTRA BASSES AND CELLOS,
NINE TROMBONES and TWENTY DRUMS, exclusive of the usual number of WIND AND BRASS INSTRUMENTS, such a mass of instruments being required to give due effect to MUSARD'S MONSTER QUADRILLES, as composed by him and which have earned for him all over Europe the name of
LE ROI DU QUADRILLE.
First night of the
MONSTER QUADRILLE.
The Zouaves on the Malakoff
GRAND BATTLE QUADRILLE,
Descriptive of the storming of the Malakoff,

First night of the
EXPRESS GALLOP.
At which will be employed the extensive and new machinery, imported from Paris, descriptive of a railroad train.

THE PROGRAMME
Will contain full particulars of these extraordinary concerts.

THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC has been renovated—a costly carpet has been laid down in the lobbies and have been distributed over the corridors.
ONE HUNDRED SOFAS
On the first floor will be found a tastefully decorated
TEA AND COFFEE ROOM,
which will be under the superintendence of Mr. Moffat.
REFRESHMENTS MAY BE ORDERED, to be brought inside the house by TWENTY WAITERS IN LIVERY, who will be stationed in the parquet and balconies.
THE STAGE WITH THE ORCHESTRA, will be decorated in the most tasteful manner.
A splendid and novel scene representing
AN OCTAGONAL CONCERT ROOM, WITH CLOSED CEILING.
Thus acting as a Sounding Board, having been expressly painted by
SIGNOR GUIDICINI.
It will be illuminated by
TWENTY-FIVE MONSTER CANDELABRAS AND NEW AND SPLENDID CHANDELIERS, expressly manufactured by Mr. Cornelius, of Philadelphia.
Altogether, Mr Ullman pledges himself that THE MUSARD CONCERTS will form the
MOST COLOSSAL AND ARTISTIC ENTERTAINMENT
that has ever been introduced in America.
As the Director appeals in these concerts to all classes of the community,
THE PRICE OF ADMISSION has been fixed to all parts of the Academy at FIFTY CENTS.
Seats may be secured in advance, at 50 cents extra, at the office of the Academy of Music, at C. BREUSING'S, No. 701 Broadway, and SIBELL'S, No. 23 Wall-st., corner of Nassau.
THE SALE OF SEATS
will commence on Thursday, at 9 precisely.
THE FREE LIST INVARIABLY SUSPENDED.

On or about the 1st of May the Times Establishment will be removed to the new Times Building upon Park Row, Spruce-street and Nassau-street. We are now engaged in putting up new steam boilers and engines, and Hoe's Ten Cylinder Presses, in the vaults of the new building, and as soon as these are ready for use the removal will take place. When once established in our new quarters, we hope to introduce various additions and improvements in the management of The Times, from which we have been precluded hitherto by lack of space and other needed facilities.

The business of The Times is steadily and rapidly increasing. Our circulation is constantly extended, and our daily receipts for Advertising were never larger than they are at present. Our new Building has been constructed expressly for the accommodation of our business, and will permit of its extension to an unlimited extent. It is perfectly fire-proof, being built of stone, brick and iron from top to bottom, and is beyond question the finest Newspaper Establishment in the world. We shall do everything in our power to render The Times itself fully worthy of its new habitation.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

At 11 o'clock last night, there were no signs of the America, now in her thirteenth day out from Liverpool and due at Halifax.

In the United States Senate yesterday, some discussion was had upon extravagance in the printing expenditures of the body. It arose upon the motion of Mr. Houston to print eulogies on Senators recently deceased. After remarks by Mr Cameron, Mr. Houston, Mr. Mason and Mr. Seward, the motion was lost. The Senate then took up the Minnesota bill. It contains a preamble and two sections, and allows two representatives. Several Senators spoke upon the clause in the Minnesota Constitution, permitting aliens to vote. On the final vote the yeas were 48, the nays 3. So the Minnesota Admission bill has passed the Senate. After an Executive Session the Senate adjourned. In the House Mr. Letcher, from the Committee of Ways and Means, complained that the Deficiency bill was fired into from the Democratic side, which, as it was an Administration measure, he did not expect. Supplies for the Utah Expedition must be obtained. Mr. Washburn, of Maine, and Granger, of New-York, opposed granting supplies. Mr. Lovejoy, of Illinois, would undertake the war by contract, at half what the bill calls for. A colloquy took place between Mr. Hughes and Mr. Colfax, both of Indiana, upon the vote of the latter to admit Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution. Mr. Garnett, of Virginia, moved to recommit the Deficiency bill to the Committee of Ways and Means, with a variety of instructions, which were pronounced by Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, equivalent, if adopted, to the defeat of the bill. The previous question, on Mr. Garnett's motion, was ordered, pending which the House adjourned.

A great crowd of business was done by the Legislature yesterday, a full summary of which will be found under our telegraphic head. A final vote is to be taken on the Registry law in the Assembly to-day.

The Rhode Island State election took place yesterday, and resulted in the complete triumph of the American Republicans—they having elected their whole State ticket and large majorities in both branches of the General Assemoly.

Advices from Venezuela, received at Baltimore, are important. President Monagas, anticipating the overthrow of his Government, had resigned, and a Provisional Government, under General Castro, had been formed. At latest dates the Ex-President was under the protection of the Diplomatic body.

The Commissioners of Emigration met in Worth-street on Wednesday, the President, Gulian C. Verplanck, Esq., in the Chair, when the Report of the Special Committee was brought up to whom was referred the case of the Hamburg ship Howard, which arrived at this port about six weeks ago. There were 38 deaths on board, the voyage lasting 96 days. The affidavit of Adolph Feltes, a cabin passenger, sets forth that the vessel was badly provisioned and short of water. It says: "The captain was probably too much engaged in conversation with a girl whom he had taken from the steerage into his cabin, and who remained with him during the whole of the voyage. He was even closeted with her during the whole of a very stormy night, and did not come on deck, much to the dissatisfaction of his officers." The matter was referred to a Special Committee, consisting of the President, Vice-President, and the President of the German Society as Chairman. Nine hundred and thirty-five emigrants arrived during the week.

The "Regulars" and "Foresters" met as brothers last evening at the regular monthly meeting of the Tammany Society. Postmaster Fowler presided, in the absence of Grand Sachem Delavan. After the usual routine business, two new members were initiated, and then the Order adjourned quietly and in order, contrary to general expectation.

The Academy of Medicine held its monthly meeting last night. They refused to pass resolutions introduced by Dr. Griscom, recommending a memorial to Congress to the effect that the Inspector of Drugs be appointed, only on the recommendation of the College of Pharmacy, the Academy of Medicine, and other medical institutions in this City; appointed a list of 24 delegates, beginning with Dr. Valentine Mott, to the next meeting of the National Medical Association, at Washington; wrangled a little about paying for 750 copies of Dr. Sims' oration, and listened to a paper on one of his specialties by Dr. A. K. Gardner.

Judge Davies has suggested a great improvement in the Supreme Court Calendar. That of the Special Term, now ready, is long and narrow, so as to correspond in size and be carried with law papers. It has cloth covers, and presents a very neat appearance. There are five cases on a page, with blank room to each for notes. At the end of the volume is an index of all the cases, and a table for "set-down causes." It is much the most convenient form ever used, and must become generally adopted. The cost, we learn, is about one-quarter of that paid for the old style.

Last evening a meeting was held in the lecture-room of the Spingler Institute, which was attended by about 50 clergymen of various denominations, and laymen, the object being the perpetuation of the effects of the present religious revival, and the adoption of measures, by tent-preaching and similar agencies, to reach the classes not ordinarily attending the churches. Great cordiality of feeling prevailed, and it was determined to call another and a larger meeting in a few days, when definite action will be taken.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education held last night, the sum of $24,277 was appropriated for the building of a new school-house in the Twenty-second Ward. Mr. Randall was unanimously reelected City Superintendent of Schools, and Mr. Kiddle was reelected Assistant-Superintendent by 26 votes. And, after a prolonged discussion on the report recommending a modification of the present Normal School Department the Board adjourned at 11 o'clock P. M.

A preliminary examination in the case of Chas. Turner, charged with abstracting certain documents from the Street Commissioner's Office, was had yesterday before the Mayor. Nothing of particular interest was elicited. A further hearing will be had to-day.

Edward H. Smithson, who was arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of young Samuel, was admitted to bail yesterday in the sum of $2,000. Mr. Persse, of the firm of Persse & Brooks, became his surety.

The General Markets, yesterday, were moderately active and firm for Cotton, Flour and Wheat. Buyers had to pay higher prices for Corn, owing to scarcity of it. Provisions were in good demand, and hog products were advancing. The grocery trade lacked animation. Freights were quite heavy, with 589 vessels of all classes in port.

The Cattle Markets have been poorly supplied during the week past, the entire City receipts amounting to only 2,485, against a weekly average of 3,143 last week. This small supply happened rather inopportunely, as, the fast over, there is an unusual demand for Beef just now. The holders having the control of the market, put up prices from 1c.@1½c., which was so much above the views of buyers that many of them bought very short, and some not at all. The market declined during the day, and the 1,844 cattle offered at Forty-fourth-street were finally sold out at night, the average advance of yesterday being about 1c. ₱ lb. over the sales of the preceding Wednesday.

The War Prospect in Europe.

The Emperor Napoleon has just replaced the Count de Persigny as his Ambassador at London, by the Marshal Duke de Malakoff. This diplomatic change has a double significance of no slight importance in the actual position of European affairs. It illustrates at once the reality of the Emperor's wish to conciliate England, and the urgency of his own domestic difficulties. M. de Persigny had alienated from himself the good-will of one of the most adulatory and "imperialist" bodies in Great Britain, the city of London, by his ungracious reply to their address of congratulation on the Emperor's escape from the bombs of Orsini. No class of Englishmen have shown so much good-will to the new Napoleonic dynasty as the descendants of these very "shop-keepers," upon whom the first Napoleon used to vent his Corsican spite and scorn. The Bordeaux proclamation that the "Empire was Peace" captivated them thoroughly. M. de Persigny presumed too far upon this captivation, and forgetting that there was a soul of freedom in the London corporation, endeavored to enlist them in the Imperial crusade against the refugees, by menacing intimations of possible wars to follow upon the stubbornness of English Parliaments and the wanton audacity of an English Press. He made a serious and offensive blunder; and his retirement from office will be regarded in London as a practical admission of, and apology for, that blunder, on the part of his master.

The appointment of Marshal Pelissier in his stead, covers this admission and apology in a very ingenious and Imperial manner. Marshal Pelissier made many friends among his English allies in the East; he is believed to be personally friendly to England; and it has not been forgotten that on his reception at Marseilles he repaired the omission of Great Britain from the "toasts" of the civic banquet, by paying himself a frank, soldierlike compliment to the army of Queen Victoria. At the same time the Duke de Malakoff will bear about in his own title a perpetual quiet remembrance of the superior part which was played by France in the Crimea; and without derogating in the least from the dignity and decorum of his diplomatic office will be able to keep himself thoroughly informed of the actual state of the military preparations of Great Britain.

But if it is essential to the Emperor's foreign policy that the people of England should be soothed again into amiability and confidence, it is not less essential to his domestic régime that he should be surrounded at home by men upon whom he can himself rely. And upon no two men in France can Napoleon III. so absolutely depend as upon M. de Persigny and the Marshal Magnan. De Morny, as he well knows, is attached to him simply by the shallowest self-interest. He was faithful at the time of the coup d'état, because then he was a man of desperate fortunes who had all to win and nothing to lose. Under the Empire he has acquired enormous wealth, he has connected himself by marriage with powerful families out of France, and as he once risked nothing to gain everything, the Emperor can hardly expect him now to risk everything to gain nothing. Persigny and Magnan, on the contrary, will work for the Emperor as long as a ray of hope for him or his remains; and Napoleon III. now needs all the little loyalty he can command to make head against the gathering difficulties of his position. The rebound of his colossal experiments in finance is fast coming upon his Government; for the conditions under which alone those experiments could have proved successful, are rapidly disappearing from the game. Napoleon addressed himself at the beginning of his reign to the commercial interests of France. He put himself at the head of the enterprising and speculative ideas of the age. Relying on the mass of accumulated capital in France, he determined to stimulate that capital into unprecedented activity. Nothing can be more absurd than to charge him with a servile plagiarism of the system of his uncle. His theories, whatever their result may be, were his own, and his execution of his plans was as energetic as his conception of them was bold.

Moreover, he seemed, till within a very few months, to be going on most successfully. Nothing in the way of speculative development of real resources has ever been seen in the world to compare with the gigantic commercial financiering of France since 1851. The crisis of 1857, however, is now doing its work, indirectly indeed, but none the less effectually, upon the Imperial fabric. The commercial confidence of France, shaken by that crisis abroad, has now received a blow still more severe from the events which have followed the attempt of the 14th January. The breaking of the English alliance is the breaking of the ties which bind together the enormous machinery of commerce and speculation in France; and the stoppage of that machinery is the ruin of the Imperial Government. For Napoleon III. has discounted the future in his Treasury. Hippolyte Passy, in his admirable report on the Budget of 1849, established the principle that the France of 1849 could not safely carry a Government "floating debt" of more than $70,000,000. From 1853 to the present time Napoleon's Government has been carrying a "floating debt" of between $110,000,000 and $130,000,000 per annum. Possibly, the France of the last few years may have been able to bear the pressure. But the crash of the commercial France of to-day would certainly throw the Empire back to the capacity of 1849. And then?

Upon this contingency hangs the whole of the anxiety which now pervades Europe in regard to the relations of England with France. If Napoleon should find himself forced to push taxation beyond the limit of safety, he must arm himself with a pretext which shall rally the people, partly by their sympathies and partly by its own stringency, to his side. And it may well be doubted whether any such pretext would be so popular with those classes upon whom the Emperor, in the alienation of the world of commerce and capital, must rely, as a war with England. The army and the provincial peasantry are the least enlightened, but also the most stubbornly French of the French. With them the word "Anglais" is now, as it was in the days of Rabelais, a synonym for robber and villain. Nor is this unnatural. Popular education has only of late years begun to be diffused throughout France. The prejudices of centuries remain almost untouched in the popular heart, and those prejudices have always been more rancorous in France than in England. For nearly a thousand years have elapsed since the Normans overrun England, and their conquest was less a conquest than a fusion. But a generation of Frenchmen, of whom myriads are still living, saw the English flag floating over the walls of Paris, and four centuries have not effaced the traces of the wide ruin wrought throughout fair France by the invading Plantagenets. If Napoleon then is thrown back from the post of his ambition as the Arbitrator, Moderator and Umpire of Christendom—if that "leadership of Europe" which the London Times conceded to him but a year ago, is now to be questioned—if the dazzling system of his Imperialism is dashed and dimmed—if he is driven to the ultra-Gallicism of glory—he can touch no spring so true as an appeal to the soldier and the agriculturist against the perfidy of Albion. The impaired prestige of the English navy during the Crimean war will reconcile many even of the lesser maritime districts to such a step, and whenever it shall become the only desperate resort of his situation it is not easy to see why he should hesitate to grasp it. That the emergency may now be forced upon him at any moment, no impartial observer of his financial position can, we think, permit himself to doubt.

Cuba and the South.

The Washington States makes some very just and timely strictures upon the short-sighted policy of Southern politicians. They are always on hand to fight windmills, but are never in harness when any contest of actual importance is impending. They neglect and sacrifice the valuable material interests of the Southern States, to the miserable controversies upon abstractions, which absorb public attention and divert the public mind from matters of greater consequence. They are now contending, with vehement and intemperate zeal, for the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution, conceding that it has not the slightest practical importance for them, while they are utterly neglecting the issues connected with Cuba and Central America. The States cites these facts as showing conclusively that the South has no sound and healthy policy,—that she never secures the sympathy of the whole country by measures of national magnitude, but permits her public men to damage her reputation and check her growth by the narrow, sectional and repellant controversies which absorb their whole attention.

There is great force in these criticisms of a Southern journal upon the policy of the Southern States. And there can be no doubt that the more rapid growth of the North, in wealth and in power, is due to the greater attention which has been paid by its people to their own affairs. The New-England States have never been diverted, by national politics, from building up their manufactures. New-York and Pennsylvania have steadily aimed at securing the commerce of the great West. The Western States have been actively engaged in building Railroads, in bringing their vast tracts of land into cultivation, in building school-houses and churches, and in laying the foundations of social and civil prosperity. The South has done very little in these directions. Its energies have been expended upon remote and abstract issues. It has been waging an unequal war with the North for control of the Federal Government. Instead of finding the grounds of its decay in its own neglect, it attributes it to foreign causes, and goes on, with increased zeal, in the same path by which it has reached its present condition.

The South needs men who are not afraid to look their actual condition in the face,—or to apply whatever remedies may be required. The Northern States got rid of Slavery, because they found it unprofitable and damaging to their best interests. No man at the South dares to inquire whether Slavery is advantageous or not,—whether its existence does more good than harm,—and whether it might not profitably and safely be removed. They all feel obliged to take for granted the very thing which most requires examination. It is very true they find an excuse for this, in the assaults made upon them from the North. The vehement attacks of Abolitionists in the North ern States were not calculated to win them to a candid and dispassionate inquiry into the merits of Slavery:—and in their view they exposed them to dangers which would not permit freedom of action or even of speculation. We have no doubt whatever that, if there had not been a line written or a word said on the subject of Slavery in the Northern States since 1830, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri would have been Free States to-day. They have been so kept upon the defensive from that date to this, that they have had neither time nor inclination to deal with Slavery at home. But, while this fact undoubtedly increases the difficulties in the way of proper action, it ought not to prevent such action entirely. Increased obstacles should inspire increased courage.

The States considers the acquisition of Cuba as a matter of special importance to the Southern States. We do not:—nor are we surprised to find, among Southern men, that difference of sentiment and of action which the States deplores. The Cuban question is preëminently a Northern question. The only way in which the acquisition of that island could benefit the South, would be by adding one more Slave State to the Union and so increasing the political power of Slavery. But Cuba, if acquired, must be a province before it is a State,—and we shall have half a dozen more Free States before she enters the confederacy. Besides, Slavery is a very different thing in Cuba from what it is in South Carolina. The acquisition of Cuba would put an effectual stop to the African Slave-trade, introduce a rival sugar-growing country to Louisiana, and offer the example of a Slave State where slaves are legally entitled to earn their own freedom. Commerce would be the great interest which would profit most by the Americanization of Cuba:—and the commercial section is, therefore, the one which will be most zealous in its support. New-York City is far more deeply interested in the accomplishment of this purpose, than the Southern section of the Union. It would add ten or fifteen millions yearly to our trade,—offer new markets to the grain and flour of the West as well as to the manufactures of New-England,—and add immensely to the military strength and national stability of the whole country. Hundreds and thousands of Northern capitalists would invest in its plantations and make it their Winter residence,—and in all essential respects it would be commercially, socially and politically a dependency of New-York and the North. And instead of becoming, as many persons fear it would, part of a future Southern Slave Empire, the bonds of commerce and of interest would make Cuba, if annexed, one of the strongest Union States in the confederacy.

Whenever the time arrives for practical action upon this subject, we are fully prepared to see the policy of acquiring Cuba adopted and urged as a Northern measure. It is very clear, however, that Mr. Buchanan is losing the opportunity of attempting this work with the slightest prospect of success. He is wasting his strength in the foolish and fruitless struggle for Lecompton. He has attempted to coerce Congress, and the attempt has recoiled with fearful effect. His prestige and power are thoroughly broken,—and as events prove, he cannot command a majority for any measure he may propose. It is evident that the Cuban question must wait for wiser men and more propitious times.

The Administration in Congress.—The Democratic revolt on the Kansas question is extending to other relations between the President and Congress. In the House of Representatives there is a manifest disposition to withhold the supplies. It is the ancient and efficient English mode of humbling the Crown. The passage of the Deficiency bill is so seriously threatened that, yesterday, Mr. Letcher, in behalf of the Committee of Ways and Means, was obliged to appeal to the sympathy of the House. The want of confidence exhibited toward the Executive by his own party, is certainly extraordinary. That it should distress the Administration is a matter of course. This state of things is in sad contrast to the jubilant feelings with which Mr. Buchanan and his Cabinet took their places thirteen short months ago, and shows how melancholy an affair a victory may become through a bad use of its advantages.

A Check to Stock-Gambling.—The bill to legalize stock-contracts on time passed the Assembly yesterday, at Albany, and if it should become a law it will have a much better effect towards the prevention of stock-gambling than any restrictive measure could possibly do. Making outlaws of bulls and bears, and placing them beyond the reach of justice, was certainly not the wisest way of treating them, if the object was to curb their rampant and reckless propensities. The true policy is that of this bill—to put them upon the same footing, and compel them to deal upon the same principles, with other business men. We hope the bill will become a law.

Registry Bill in the Senate.—Yesterday Senator Wheeler reported the bill to prevent illegal voting throughout this State, and it was made the special order for this afternoon. The final vote is to be taken on Saturday morning.

In the Senate there are sixteen Republicans, two Americans, and one Independent Republican, (Mr. Stow,) all of whom it is anticipated will vote in the affirmative. Nor is the passage of the bill in the Assembly doubtful, provided a vote can be had. We hope to see this much-needed measure a law before the session closes.

In the latter body, yesterday, upon Mr. Wager moving the several bills composing the finance budget, as a special order for this evening, Mr. Adams moved to amend by uniting the Registry bill therewith, and by making it first in order. Mr. McNett moved to make it last on the list. Lost, Ayes 43, Noes 67. Immediately after the House adjourned; but this vote clearly indicates the favor with which the bill is regarded.

Predictions.—The newspapers are circulating the report that the Earl of Rosse predicts that the coming Summer is to be the hottest ever known. The Earl's great telescope is undoubtedly a very fine instrument, but we doubt whether it enables him to see any further into the future than than the rest of us can.

Wallack's Theatre.—Mr. James Stark appeared last night as Richelieu, and gave a much finer impersonation of the old Cardinal than his conventional Beverley led us to expect. Mr. Stark is a very discreet actor, and is perfectly well informed in his profession. His physical powers are not too great for the dimensions of the theatre, and those who are fond of the legitimate will not be disappointed in a fair and scholarly interpretation.

City Items.

In the Court of Oyer and Terminer, yesterday, before Judge Ingraham, Michael Wogan, charged with the murder of Michael Cassidy, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the fourth degree. John Mahoney, charged with the murder of H. F. Hamilton, in Canal-street, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the first degree. Sentence will be passed upon them on Tuesday next. Thomas Thompson, convicted a year since in the Court of General Sessions for burglary, and sentenced to the State Prison for five years—having obtained a new trial through the decision of the Court of Appeals—was brought yesterday before the Court. His Counsel put in a plea of insanity. The Judge ordered a Jury to be impanneled to try the question of sanity, whereupon, after the Jury was sworn, Counsel decided to retry the case in the Court of Sessions, as before. The Jury were then discharged for the term, and the Court adjourned till Tuesday next.

A Policeman's meeting for religious worship was held at the Stanton-street Baptist Church, yesterday afternon. There were a number of Policemen and their friends present. The Rev. E. T. Hiscox, the Rev. Dr. Roache, the Rev. Dr. Phelps and other clergymen made appropriate remarks. Captain Hart, of the Seventeenth Precinct, exhorted his brother officers to become Christians. Other Policemen made similar exhortations. The wife of a Policeman, among others, stood up and asked the prayers of all present for the members of the Police Department.

In the Court of General Sessions, yesterday Thomas Weinholdt, a boy, was charged with stealing books, worth $50, from Mr. R. Leslie, and acquitted James Mahoney pleaded guilty to petit larceny; sentence reserved. John Tubbs pleaded guilty to assault and battery on Henry Jennings; sentence also reserved. James Heslip, who was tried for stealing a horse and cart, in the February term, when the Jury disagreed, was again tried yesterday, and again the Jury disagreed. The Court then adjourned.

Edward Hennon, just from Troy, bound to Europe, was yesterday forced by John E. Enright, who keeps the Farmer's Hotel in Cedar-street, to pay the latter $1 50 for his baggage which had been brought to the house by runners as soon as it was landed. The design was to force Hennon to "put up" at the house. Hennon, however, "put up" to the City Hall as fast as possible, and the Mayor sent an officer to the hotel who recovered the money.

Coroner Connery held an inquest yesterday upon the body of an infant a month old, found in the sink of No. 324 Canal-street. The post mortem examination discovered that the child's skull and breast-bone had been fractured. A verdict in accordance with these facts was rendered. No clue has been obtained of the parents of the child.

An inquest was held yesterday upon the body of Thos. McLaughlin, an Irishman, 60 years of age, whose body was found drowned at the foot of Desbrosses-street. He resided at No. 225 Elizabeth-street, and it is presumed fell into the water while intoxicated. Verdict: "Death by drowning."

Thos. H. Gregory, an Irishman, 36 years of age, committed suicide Tuesday evening by swallowing laudanum at No. 63 James-street. He has for a long time been very intemperate in his habits. Verdict: "Suicide."

John Hines, an Englishman, aged 45 years committed suicide by taking laudanum about 7 o'clock last evening, at No. 45 Crosby-street, because he was destitute and unable to find employment.

The Charge of Abstracting Papers from the Street Commissioner's Office—Mr. Turner Before the Mayor.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning Chas. Turner, Deputy Street Commissioner under Mr. Devlin, appeared before the Mayor to answer the charge made against him the day previous by Barnabas B. Adams, messenger in the Street Commissioner's office, of having taken some public records from the safe in the office of the Street Commissioner. Richard E. Stillwell, Esq., appeared as counsel for Mr. Turner, D. Dudley Field, Esq., for Mr. Conover, and Mr. Busteed, Corporation Counsel, on behalf of the City. There was a large crowd in attendance of the friends of Mr. Turner, and of Mr Conover's friends also.

Recorder Barnard stated that on Monday last Mr. Turner showed him a subpœna requiring him (Turner) to attend as a witness in a case in the Marine Court, and bring with him certain papers. These papers, Mr. Turner told him, were private, and that they were in a private safe in the Street Commissioner's office. He told Mr. Turner he would have to obey the injunction of the Court and produce the papers or be committed for contempt. The only question (the Recorder remarked) was whether the papers were public or private.

Mr. Stillwell contended that no offence had been committed, as the safe which Mr. Turner opened was a private safe which he purchased in 1856, and that it contained only his private papers.

Mr. Field insisted that all the papers in the Street Commissioner's office were subject to an injunction, and that no person had a right to remove a single one of them without an express order from the Supreme Court. As to what papers were in the safe that was opened by Mr. Turner, no one knew, as Mr. Turner had always retained the key in his own possession.

Mr. Busteed suggested that the Mayor be allowed to examine the papers in the safe to see if any of them belonged to the public records.

Mr. Stillwell objected to the examination proposed, insisting that it was for the prosecution to prove that there were public papers in the safe.

Mr. Turner was asked if there were public documents in the safe.

Mr. Stillwell objected to the question and no answer was given.

The affidavit of Mr. Adams, the messenger, was here read and the case adjourned till 10 o'clock this morning, when Adams will be cross-examined.

Brooklyn Items.

The total vote cast at the charter election in Brooklyn, Tuesday, was about 20,000. The election for Aldermen resulted in the choice of seven Democrats, four Independent Democrats, three Americans, and five Republicans. Thirteen persons were arrested for illegal voting. In the Nineteenth, Mr. Fred. Scholes was reëlected Alderman, and not Mr. Cochnot, as was at first reported.

The County Court was opened yesterday. Fifteen prisoners were arraigned. Edward Thomas pleaded guilty to forgery in the third degree, and was sent up for two years. James Crier pleaded guilty to larceny, and was sentenced to two years' imprisonment. The Court adjourned to Monday next.

At the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors, Messrs. Booth and White, Superintendents of the Poor, had their salaries raised $300 each. They now receive $1,500 each, and the other Superintendents of the Poor $1,200 each.

Twenty-five men were arrested by the Third Precinct Police, on Tuesday, for violating the law by interfering with voters at the polls. They were immediately discharged when brought before Justice Blachley yesterday morning.

A female pickpocket stole $10 from the pocket of a lady on Fulton-street, yesterday. She was arrested and committed to answer.

The house of Dr. Gray, on Livingston-street, was robbed yesterday of silver ware valued at $20.

Sea and Ship News.

Loss of the New-York Ship Antoinette at the Falklands—Noble Conduct of the American Consul.—The following letter, which we take from the London Times of the 24th ult., is addressed to the Editor of that paper:

Sir: Through your columns I wish to make known the loss of the North American ship Antoinette, of New-York. We left Callao on the 22d of October, bound for Lon on, with a load of guano, and had a fine passage up to Cape Horn; but in two days afterwards we were wrecked on the coast of the Falkland Islands, and, strange to say, I did not know of any settlement belonging to us there, and neither did any one on board. The Captain said there was a settlement formerly at Berkeley Sand, and we proceeded there after our ship had gone to the bottom. We got there on the second day after we left the ship, or rather to a settlement at Port William, where we found an American Consul, to whom the Captain told our loss, and that there was a boat and five men adrift, whom we had lost sight of. The poor old gentleman got a vessel the same afternoon, and at daylight the next morning proceeded to look for them, although it blew a gale of wind. His last words to us were, "Don't fear—if they are alive, I will find them;" and find them he did, on one of the small islands, with boat stove and without water; and the crew informed me that he never left the deck or slept until he did find them, when he showed them every kindness in his power. He was absent but four days. I am informed by the inhabitants of the Colony that he has always been in the habit of acting in this way for many years. He is the same man who went in pursuit of and found Captain Gardner and the missionaries who were starved to death at Cape Horn, rescued a French crew on the coast of Patagonia and in the Straits of Magellan, and a Danish crew at Haltenaud, and all at his own expense. The inhabitants say he is better acquainted and has more knowledge of the place and coast than any man living. He is kind, generous, and liberal in the extreme.

I take this means of returning my sincere thanks, and that of all the crew, through your valuable paper, to Captain Smyly, the United States Consul, for his kindness in relieving and assisting us in the time of need. I am, Sir, your very obd't serv't,

JACOB ROACH,
(In behalf of all the crew of the ship Antoinette.)

Falkland Islands, Dec. 7, 1857.

Jersey Items.

The Jersey City Democratic Convention for the nomination of Municipal officers for the election on Tuesday next, was held at the Fountain House last night, and resulted in the selection of the following candidates:

Mayor—John Van Vorst.
Water Commissioners—Charles Fink, Samuel Westcott, John Cassidy.
School Superintendent—Wm. H. Jelliffe.
Collector of Taxes—Peter P. Past.
Assessors—James Young and Smith Mead.

Fires.

In Fifty-second-street.—A barn in Fifty-second-street, near Third-avenue, belonging to Geo. Whitfield, was destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Loss $300; no insurance.

Fire Alarm.—The alarm of fire for the First District, at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, was occasioned by the burning of a fire-board, in the house of Wm. Young, corner of Eleventh-avenue and Thirty-seventh-street. The damage was trifling.

The Loss of the Sultan—Complete List of the Lost and Saved.

The St. Louis Republican publishes the following list of the lost and saved on the burnt steamer Sultan:

Lost—James Pogue, Lagrange, Mo.; Albert Pogue, do., do.; Mrs. Julius Pogue, do., do.; Mrs. F. A. Cheatham, Baton Rogue, La.; S. B. Woolfolk, Scottville, Ill.; Henry Ely, St. Louis; Capt. D. D. Moore, St. Louis; Joseph Blackburn, St. Louis; barkeeper, name unknown; Dennis Callaghan, St. Louis; Patrick Donnell, cabin boy; two other cabin boys, names unknown; the barber, three firemen and four deck passengers.

Saved—Capt. P. E. Hannum, St. Louis; Mr. Barnes, do.; L. T. Corr, do.; Ira M. Blessing, do.; W. Fairfont, do.; H. P. Blessing, do.; Wm. Gray, pilot; Fred. Dowe, mate; Frank Harman, engineer; D. A. Mahoney, carpenter; Martin Foy, steward; James Wood, Henry Parish and Henry Myers, cooks; Martin Dixon, 2d steward; Thomas Cannon, pantryman.

This, we believe, is a complete list of the lost and saved, so far as known. There are several of the gentlemen passengers, of whom there were eight or nine to hear from.

MADAME E. S. HILLIER,
No. 385 Broadway.

Ladies who have visited the various "openings" of the past week, will find many exclusive novelties at this establishment. In Paris bonnets, dress caps and coiffures: Spring ribbons and artificial flowers, straw goods, silks, &c. The variety, freshness and beauty of the assortments cannot be surpassed, and as these are times when Fashion seeks the companionship of Economy, the prices have been marked down below even the minimum of former Seasons.

Do Fishes Build Nests?—That charming little fish, the Stickleback, does. You may see two of them now building nests in the aquaria at Barnum's Museum. By the way, that India-rubber man, Mr. Duverne, at Barnum's, is an astonisher? How does he metamorphose and condense himself so marvellously? It is astounding. The "Bride of an Evening" is repeated to-night. "Joan of Arc," this afternoon. Here are attractions.

The Pacha's Last Move.—From the turban to the fez, and, since the grand Turk has invested in one of Knox's new Spring hats, the style, finish, lightness, and elegance of which fascinated him, there is no doubt the change will be to the modern chapeau in Turkey. This is Knox's last conversion, not his greatest, at corner Broadway and Fulton-street.

☞ Singer's Sewing Machines.—Manuf

☞ Chance for Every Lady.
Imitation is sure to follow the manufacturer of a successful article. The greater the success of a useful article, and the longer it has remained before the public, the more daring and numerous are the counterfeiters and counterfeits. For twenty years Visalt Este's shoes have received universal patronage from the ladies of this country. There have been counterfeits of these shoes offered for sale, bearing the name of "Este," with "Rue de la Paix" added. There is but one Visalt Este in Paris, and his shoes have been for three years stamped with the coat of arms of the Empress Eugenie, for whom Este alone works. The genuine Este shoes are to be had only at M. L. HILL'S, No. 571 Broadway, New-York, where will likewise be found the manufacturers of Chapell, Lapague and Jacobs, besides the cheaper productions of other makers. An immense stock is now open for inspection, which will be sold at prices in accordance with the reduction observed everywhere else.

☞ S. C. Herring & Co.'s Fire-Proof Champion Safe Warerooms and office removed to No. 251 Broadway. The above premises have been enlarged and fitted for the exclusive sale of these celebrated Safes. The rooms are the most extensive, and the assortment the largest in the world. Persons in want of Fire or Burglar-Proof Safes are invited to call and examine.
S. C. HERRING & CO.

☞ Hunt, Webster & Co.'s
Improved Tight-stitch Sewing Machines. For all manufacturing purposes and for family use, are deemed preferable to any other machine.
HUNT, WEBSTER & CO., No. 469 Broadway.

☞ Barry's Tricopherous
is the
BEST AND CHEAPEST ARTICLE
For DRESSING, BEAUTIFYING, CLEANING, CURLING, PRESERVING, and RESTORING THE HAIR. Ladies, try it. For sale by all Druggists and Perfumers.

☞ Boots and Shoes.
THE LARGEST AND CHEAPEST ASSORTMENT OF GOOD BOOTS AND SHOES IN THE CITY IS AT BROOKS'
No. 575 Broadway and No. 150 Fulton-st.

☞ Italian Braid Hats.
The last shipments of this superior manufactured STRAW HAT for this season's trade have now been received and are being finished by the undersigned on the HAVELOCK BLOCK.
A comparison of the above with the Swiss manufacture of last year is respectfully solicited.
BALLARD, SROTE & CO., No. 45 Broadway.

☞ Genin's "leading" Idea:
Hats to please all fancies.
No. 214 Broadway.

☞ Batchelor's Hair Dye—Wigs and Toupees.—Largest stock in the World.—This celebrated establishment is at No. 233 Broadway. Twelve private rooms expressly for the application of his famous Hair Dye, the best extant. BATCHELOR'S Wigs and Toupees have improvements over all others; this is the only place where these things are properly understood and made.

☞ Gents' and Children's Spring and Summer Styles of Hats and Caps, in all their Variety.—A beautiful assortment of Children's Straw Hats, Caps and Hats, unsurpassed by any. First premium has been awarded.
KELLOGG, Manufacturer,
[redacted] No. 381 Canal-st.

☞ Churrus Remedy is invaluable to old persons. It invigorates and exhilarates the system, and arrests for years the progress of decrepitude. When all other tonics have failed it invariably succeeds. Sold by W. A. CAULDFIELD, agent, No. 333 Broadway. Sent free to any address on receipt of $1.

☞ Chase's $18 Sewing Machine is little liable to get out of order, makes a beautiful, firm and straight stitch, and sews on thick cloth or the finest muslin, with either silk or thread. It is warranted for one year. New-York Wire Railing Depôt, No. 312 Broadway.
C. T. DUPONT.

☞ Household Furniture.—RICHARDS KINGSLAND & CO., office No. 158 Chambers-st., will give their personal attention to the sale of household furniture at the residence of families removing or declining housekeeping during the season, on reasonable terms; and prompt returns made in all sales.

☞ The Metallic Tablet Strop—Invented by GEORGE SAUNDERS, A. D 1816. This, the genuine article, has never been equaled for producing the keenest possible edge to a razor. Can be obtained of the subscribers and sole manufacturers, J. & S. SAUNDERS, store No. 7 Astor-House.

☞ Churrus Remedy promptly relieves the agony of neuralgia, tic douloureux, rheumatism, nervous headache, &c., and imparts to every diseased or weakened organ new energy and vigor.

☞ Churrus Remedy.—Come to the depôt and read the original letters of physicians and clergymen who have approved of it. Men of the highest standing declare it a sovereign cure for nervous, bilious and pulmonary complaints.

☞ India Rubber Gloves for house cleaning, gardening and care of flowers, render the hands soft, smooth and snowy white; are impervious to water, hot or cold, and very useful where other gloves are spoiled. For sale at No. 36 John-st., up stairs.

☞ Extra Security.
The most thoroughly BURGLAR-PROOF, as well as FIRE-PROOF SAFE ever invented, is now offered by STEARNS & MARVIN,
No. 40 Murray-st., New-York.

Barthelf's Sewing Machines—For tailors, pant, vest, dress-makers and general use. Office No. 489 Broadway, corner Broome-st.
"These machines make excellent work."—New-York Sun.

☞ Misses and Children's Silver Gray and Tan Colored Bloomers and Hats, the largest assortment ever offered to the trade, by A. LELAND & CO., No. 180 Broadway.

☞ Trees and Plants.—A catalogue of the choicest fruits and flowering trees and shrubs, roses, &c., will be sent on application. Carriage of all packages paid to New-York. B. M. WATSON, Old Colony Nurseries, Plymouth, Mass.

☞ Churrus Remedy.—Eminent medical men use it and have indorsed it. Call and see the proofs. It never has, never can fail, in any nervous disease or case of debility.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HORSE-TAMING SECRET FOR TAMING AND BREAKING HORSES.—The proprietor of the above invaluable secret as now being practiced with such eminent success in England and France, has been induced by numerous friends to offer the same to the American public. By the use of it the most wild and vicious animal can be perfectly tamed and subdued in fifteen minutes, without the least injury to the horse. It is equally applicable for the breaking of young horses. The great notoriety and success our talented countryman has obtained for it in Europe renders further notice unnecessary. The secret with directions forwarded to any address for $1, remitted to JAMES RUFUS SCOTT, Brooklyn City, N. Y.

JAMES B. RICHARD'S PRIVATE SCHOOL for Hygienic treatment, as well as physical and psychological training, is at the corner of 131st-st and 5th-av. This is, in every sense, a family school. Here, eccentric and backward children may be treated as their cases demand. Special attention will be given to children of delicate organizations and feeble nervous systems. Among his numerous friends in the City he has the privilege of referring to His Honor, the Mayor, Daniel F. Tiemann; Dr. John W. Francis; the Hon. Charles King, President of Columbia College; Dr. Abram Dubois; Dr. Benjamin Ogden; Peter Cooper, Esq.; Dr. Lewis A. Sayre, Dr. John H. Griscom, and Dr. George A. Peters.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY—SPECIAL NOTICE.—The Board of Direction being desirous of having all books that have been kept out of the Library so long that they are liable to a fine, returned, do urgently request members and all others having such in their possession to return them without delay; and the Board of Direction do hereby order that any fines incurred upon such books shall not be enforced in case return is made during the present month. By order of the Board. W. M. PURDY, Recording Secretary.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

NEW-YORK STATE CANALS.—NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.—REPAIRS OF CHAMPLAIN CANAL.—In pursuance of Act, Chapter 105, Laws of 1857, and of a Resolution of the Contracting Board, notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned, at the Canal Commissioners' Office, in the city of Albany, until Tuesday, the 13th day of April next, at 10 o'clock A. M., for furnishing all the materials and performing all the work necessary or that may be required, to keep in good repair, and in good navigable condition, during each time in each year as the Canal Commissioners, or Commissioner in charge shall direct, for a period of five years from the 10th day of May next.

SECTION NO. 1 CHAMPLAIN CANAL.

Penalty in Bond.....$7,000

Together with all and each of the Side Cuts, Structures, Feeders and Reservoirs connected therewith.

Every proposal shall be accompanied by an affidavit indorsed thereon of each person uniting in such proposal, that he is not directly or indirectly interested in any other proposal for the same work or materials, or any part of the same; that he has no agreement or understanding with any other person to become interested in any other proposal or contract for the same work or materials, or any part thereof; and that no other person than such as shall be named in the proposal is interested in the same, or has any agreement or understanding to become interested in any contract that may be made in pursuance of such proposal.

Every proposal for the above-mentioned work or materials must be accompanied with a bond to the people of this State, in the penalty specified above, and which bond shall be signed by the party making such proposal, and two or more responsible sureties, with such evidence of their responsibility as the Contracting Board shall require, and which sureties shall justify in sums equal in the aggregate to twice the amount of such penalty.

Each proposal must be accompanied by the certificate of the Supervisor of the town, and the County Clerk or the County Judge of the county in which said surety shall reside, or any two of them, as to the responsibility of said sureties.

The persons to whom the work may be awarded will be required by the contracting Board to give the bond for the payment of laborers' wages, as required by chapter 278, of the laws of 1850.

No acceptance of a proposal or award of a contract by the contracting Board, and no contract made by them, or any interest in the same, shall be assignable to any person or persons, without the written consent of the Canal Commissioners.

The Commissioners will reserve fifteen per cent. of the amount of each respective monthly estimate of work done and materials delivered, as a security to the State for the performance of the contract, and at the expiration of the third month of each year the fifteen per cent. thus retained during the previous year shall be paid to the contractor, providing the provisions of the contract shall have been fully complied with.

In case the contracting Board shall be of opinion that the proposals made at any meeting thereof, pursuant to any advertisement, are, in consequence of any combination or otherwise, excessive and disadvantageous to the State, they may decline all or any of the said proposals, and advertise anew for the work and materials embraced therein.

The person or persons to whom the contract may be awarded will be required to receive the boats, tools, and other implements specified in the following schedule, and allow therefor the respective prices therein stated, viz.:

A CAPITAL HIT.—THE FOLLOWING GOOD thing we scissor from the Picayune: Little colored boy up the alley-way leaning against the wall of his father's (the whitewasher's) house. Lady of Fifth-avenue, in a cocoon of silk and lace worth five hundred dollars, reclining on her satin couch. Merchant reading in omnibus on his way to business. School miss in remote corner of study during recess. Bridget at the basement-window when her work is done. Clergyman in country village when the hours hang heavily. Fireman in his bunk-room. Missionary journeying on his grand good crusade through the lands of the dark-souled man-eater. The desolate sailor in his confined cabin. The soldier waiting for the Mormon, and the fair-haired child, good for the time, reading the Ledger—all reading the Ledger. High and low, rich and poor, wise and unwise—all, all, all reading the Ledger. Was there ever such a thing known before—a nation taken by storm by a weekly paper? Never! There have been, in different countries, remarkably successful journals, surprisingly popular papers, and mighty magazines, but anything approaching the gulp-the-nation-down career of the New-York Ledger has never been heard of, nor do we suppose even dreamed of in dreams, before. Many dull and drowsy persons, who have been trying for years to make a little literary success, open their eyes and say, "By what kind of sleight-of-hand, what leger-de-main, has Bonner done all this?" We fancy Robert Bonner's success arose from his having acted upon somewhat the same principle as an old aunt of ours used to try and instill into the mind of her Biddy with regard to polishing the table: "Elbow-grease, elbow-grease; use plenty of elbow-grease;" or, in other words, Bonner having found out the right thought, he has done it bravely, never sparing anything that was necessary to attain the desired end.
